Request for Craft Workers

Out at Cushing Hospital at Framingham, the Veterans are waiting. Wonderful stories come from the Red Cross workers there about the beneficial results from the craftwork taught by the Green Smock Corps. Maybe it's a red leather wallet, a pottery vase, a metal bracelet or an amusing gray elephant with pink ears for the baby back home. Maybe it's a pie plate transformed into a stencilled tray or a handwoven blanket. One man began sketching remembered war scenes and now does lovely water colors of New England scenes.

The making of these objects of art helps while away many a dreary hour. Deeper than that, some medium of self-expression gives a man confidence or works off some inner tension.

Cushing needs 75 more craft workers. Can you share a few hours a week to teach our hospitalized veterans? Consider joining the Green Smocks. Call Miss Andrews now at Lasell 6000 to arrange for an interview. A training course will be given the evenings of May 6th and 8th.

Arbor Day-April 10

Seventy-five years ago this April, America's first Arbor Day was celebrated in Nebraska. In the words of its founder, Julius Sterling Morton who later became secretary of agriculture, it was the only national memorial which looked to the future, rather than the past. It still is.

It was natural, perhaps, that this ceremony based upon the planting of trees should originate in Nebraska, which, at that time, was regarded as being on the edge of the "great American desert." Lacking trees, Nebraskans appreciated them more than those to whom forests were commonplace. They made a great start in Nebraska three quarters of a century ago. One million trees were planted there on that first Arbor Day.

Mr. Morton himself could scarcely have foreseen the day when tree-growing would become a national cause, not alone on plains, but nearly everywhere. Forest industries have learned that trees are a crop, and more and more we are treating our woodlands, not as something to be cut down, but as true croplands from which successive harvests of trees can be taken Free farming" has become an organized movement in 16 states In 1872, forest protection was conspicuous by its absence. Today ivate industry, state and federal governments spend more than $27,000,000 a year to protect forests from fire. A national educa-tional movement, under the banner of "Keep America Green," has been organized in 18 forested states to stress the fact that most forest fires can be prevented because nearly 90 per cent of Economics has played a decisive role in bringing about this change. Expanding forest industries today provide markets which make tree-growing profitable. Consider this fact alone: In 1872, little more than 2000 cords of wood were used for paper making in the United States; today more than 16,000,000 cords are used annually for this purpose. In the day when our forests were almost untouched and the uses for wood relatively few, there was little incentive to grow trees. Today, farmers and other small woodlot owners who collectively own nearly 60 per cent of all our commercial forest lands are learning that forest management

The pioneers of Arbor Day built upon a strong foundation when they selected the future, rather than the past, as their cornerstone. The significance of Arbor Day is greater on its diamond jubilee than it was when it started.

Our State Senate can be a most surprising body of law-makers. In no time at all it reverses its own decision and votes to allow women and children over 16 to work after 6.00 p.m. in textile and leather mills. Eighteen Republicans and three Democrats voted to allow this night work. In this list was our only three Republicans. Miles of Brockton, Rowe of Cambridge and Sears of Dedham. Council of P.T.A.'s Discuss Modernizing School Buildings

Possible plans for the renova-tion and modernization of pres-ent school buildings were discussed at a meeting of the School Buildongs Committee of the Newton Council of Parent-Teachers' Associations held Monday evening at the Newton Technical High School, Mr. Fred Harvey, chairman, presiding.
Slides and pictures presented by a representative of the Bos-ton Edison Co., showed graphic examples of good and bad lighting for classrooms. It was pointed out that correct lighting for classrooms consists not merely of tures, but demands complete coordination of paint for walls, ceilings and floors, as well as proper arrangement of furniture. Studies by the Health Committee of the School Department in conjunction with the Health Com-missioner, show that practically all of the Newton Schools are far below standard for classroom lighting, most of them measuring 5-foot candles or less, whereas standards which will be recommended by the Illuminating En-gineering Society of America call for a minimum of 30-foot candles

Is your kitchen sink discolored or chipped? Has the linoleum "buckled" or worn out? The permanent cure for your ailing sink is to replace it with a stainless steel top.

Simply remove your sink and a portion of your present counter top. Then fasten the new stainless steel top on your present counter top. Then fasten the new stainless steel top on your present cabinet and re-connect the plumbing.

The stainless steel top will last as long as your house—will look like new year after year—is easy to clean and to keep clean—won't chip, rust, stain, or discolor.

Auburndale Review Club

The Review Club held its final program meeting on Tuesday March 25 at the home of the president, Mrs. Edmund J. Wil-son. In its "Wanderings Through Yankee Land" many interesting, unusual ad at times amusing spots of New England were brought to light. The year opened with a "Prologue to New England," by Mrs. Williams' films loaned by the New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R., taking the wanderers along the coast of New England and inland coast of New England and inland to the White Mountains and the Berkshires, and a paper, "Kenne-bec—Cradle of Americans", by Mrs. Patterson. Industries such as shipbuilding, fishing, quarry-ing and sugaring in Vermont, potato raising in Maine, the old glass factories in Sandwich, and quaint corners in Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard were visited.

Martha's Vineyard were visited. New England has an enviable cultural and architectural heri-tage in its beautiful old houses, bridges and churches, it has ro mance in its legends, in its moun-tains and in its old highways and byways. Its attics can produce unbelievable treasures. It is proud to have nurtured men and women such as Louis Agassiz, Horace Mann, Charles Goodyear, Joseph Pulitzer, Alexander Gra-ham Bell, Robert Tristram Coffin, Saint Gaudens, Cyrus H. K. Miss Mabel A. Singleton, tranch Librarian at Newton Branch Librarian at Newton Highlands, made a truly remarkable record of public service in her chosen profession. Entering the service of the Newton Free Library on January 1, 1908, after a brief period of training she was appointed, Branch Librarian at Newton Highlands, and gave the utmost in devoted service to succeeding generations of library users, to the day of her death. She had a single hearted devotion to her responsibilities which it is indeed rare to find.

Going forward with its established program, the Davis School Parent-Teacher Association will present an Open House for the parents at its next meeting on Monday evening, April 7. The presentations will feature demonstrations of a typical school day program in the various classes by the teaching staff, with explanations of the teaching methods employed. Parents indeed rare to find. indeed rare to find.

During the years of her branch librarianship, Miss Singleton was always on hand to meet every schedule responsibility, the de-tails of her work were always exact, and the spirit of friendliness, of interest in books and people was evident in very act of her daily work. In length of service she was the senior member of the library staff and had the high respect of fellow staff members and the appreciation of library users. The Board of Library Trususers. suddenly on that road leading John, others the Twenty-third Psalm, still others the Fifty third of Isaiah. For myself I would keep the last chapter of the Gospel of Luke with its exquisitely beautiful, delicately ethereal and sweetly comforting story of the walk to Emmaus.

The road to Emmaus is the confused highway of humanity.

The road to Emmaus is the confused highway of humanity, down which walks the Pilgrim Christ, taking familiarly to, breaking bread with, and giving a new hope to puzzled common people. There is no part of our Bible more precious than the story of the two men on the way to Emmaus on the evening of Easter Day.

We see these men going out from Jerusalem toward the evening hour, back to the home from which they had come. Years before they had left that home happily and expectantly to join themselves to the small group of those who were following Jesus. For three years they had been with him, listening to his teachings. They had loved his companionship and friends again and again. Now, alas, he was gone. Cruel hands had taken his life and had placed his body in a sealed tomb. They were overwhelmed with disillusion ment and loneliness. As they talked over the events of these talk and a does not know to listen be an answer to these tensolved problems and unanswered questions. The radiance of eternity stains life; the beautilet. was gone. Cruel hands had taken his life and had placed his body in a sealed tomb. They were overwhelmed with disillusionment and loneliness. As they talked over the events of these past years they sought to comfort each other. They were longing for someone to give them escape from their confusion, to bring heart-strength to their living.

What a perfect picture of the world in which you and I live! For science has come into our day of vastness and complexity and has brought great light to the middle his brought great light to the middle his day. The confused path and that on our road to mour to there is an answer to these is here, and that on our road to Emmaus as we walk down the confused pathway of life we shall find him at our side. Red Cross Workroom Completes Quota

Among the most faithful of all Red Cross workers are the production corps who carried on all Red Cross workers production corps who carried on their assignments throughout the war and have continued since with their weekly gatherings to with their weekly gatherings to with their weekly gatherings. The work has gone on quietly and unsung with eight different groups doing their share.

Meeting at central spots equipped with sewing machines, within the different villages, num.

bers of congenial and conscientious women have assembled week after week to baste and sew the garments which would go to keep needy people from suffering, and to enjoy the social will be a cup of coffee and cup of sufferiing, and to enjoy the sociability of a cup of coffee and a simple lunch. In charge of the official workrooms the following chairmen have carried out their assignments under Mrs. Joseph M. Braff as Newton Chairman; Mrs. Thomas F. Murray and Mrs. Thomas Hogg, Newton; Mrs. C. J. McCarthy, Newton Centre; Mrs. Pery Wood and Mrs. F. W. Ross, Newton High-Highlands; Miss Gertrude Osborne, Newton Upper Falls; Mrs. borne, Newton Upper Falls; Mrs.
William F. Smith, St. Bernard's
Church in West Newton; Mrs.
Wellington Rindge, Waban; and Mrs. F. H. Fowle, West Newton.
Stories of the bitter human needs continue to come in. children of Europe are the dregs of war,—the forgotten residue of a civilization which wrought destruction of homes, families, and human bonds of They are products of death, illegitimacy, and disease. That they have survived, and continue, in bewilderment at their fate, is due only to the efforts of those whose hope and support rest in the equal charity of others. There is no saturation point to the orphanges of Europe. Some-one must look after these waifs of war, and one more is always being found.

When the governments European countries find their needs greater than they them needs greater than they them-selves can supply, they ask America for aid. The United States government requests certain types of articles from the American Red Cross. The General Supply Officer in Washington requisitions the yardage of cloth from our mills. The material is shipped direct to Chapters which are equipped to carry on post-war relief work. Exact yardage and allowance per type of garment to be pro-duced is received by the Chapter. In Newton the cutting room at the Chapter House has ma-chines which will cut as many as fifty layers of cloth at one time. Then the prepared ma-terials, with findings and direc-tions are delivered by Motor Corps to the various village workrooms.

When completed, garments are returned to the Chapter House, where they are checked in de-tail, packed, coded, and shipped to the Area warehouse. The tan, packed, coded, and snipped to the Area warehouse. The North Atlantic Area warehouse' continually sends out these sup-plies to the countries from which the original requests were received.

Newton's small share of For-Newton's small share of For-cign War Relief since the close of lend-lease, and covering this season from October first to March 25th has been: 176 baby shirts, 314 diapers, 230 girls' cot-ton dresses, 153 girls' wool skirts, 268 baby bands, 164 boys' pants, 21 baby mittens, 87 boys' shirts, 10 boys' overalls, 3 baby bonnets, 9 baby sleepers, 76 girls' wool dresses, 289 girls' cotton bonnets, 9 baby sleepers, 76 girls' wool dresses, 289 girls' cotton skirts, 2 women's wool skirts, 15 women's wool dresses, (or a total of 1,817 garments). By the middle of June the quota must be finished and there is need of continuing help throughout the remainder of this season. Next Fall Newton is to share again in this post-war relief production. It is hoped that the workers will make future plans for ers will make future plans for giving their usual time to the village workrooms for sewing.

Putting in an unlimited amount of time at the Chapter

House is Mrs. Marie E. Legnard, who over the years has run up a total of 10,000 hours of service. She has supervised the prepara-tion of materials, made samples for the workrooms, inspected finished articles and taken charge of packing.

Over the years, the scraps of material left from cutting regulation garments have been turned over to Mrs. Robert Kennard, who, with a group of friends, has who, with a group of rrends, has held regular meetings to sew these pieces into small sized gar ments. Most attractive dresses with gored skirts and intricate blouses will go to make happy

"Man is but a reed, the most feeble thing in nature, but he is a thinking reed. The entire universe need not arm itself to crush him. A, vapor, a drop of water suffices to kill him... All our dignity, then, consists of thought. By it we must elevate ourselves, and not by space and time which we cannot fill. Let us endeavor then to think well: that is the principle of morality."

Blaise Pascal

"The Philosophers" (1670)
Let us endeavor to think well: the present time we are engaged in making two decisions: (1) what responsibility, economic and political, we should take outside our own borders and (2) what will make us stronger as a country—within our own borders. Much of what we hear and read gives us little chance to understand; many of us have meagre information in regard to government and governmental practices; and we are not thinking ahead, and second, after we had thought. We are the government; we alone have responsibility for action. Sir Richard Livingstone. President of Corpus Christi College, Oxford, says: "Citizenship goes far beyond voting, paying taxes, sitting on a jury and the taxes, sitting on a jury and the other duties expected by a nation from its members . . . it involves all a man's actions which touch his fellow citizens, and affect the health and well-being of the state; it is almost co-extensive with his duty to his neighbor. "At the present time there are a number of definite things we, as citizens, can do to help make the policies and reach the decisions necessary at the present time: ent time:

(1) Pause to think!

Are we thinking when we are emotionalizing about the threat "from without and within"?

(2) Gather information:

This is difficult; however, by reading even one newspaper which holds a view different or opposed to the one you now read you are exposing yourself to a

(3) Think with yur friends! Nothing is so contagious as systeria, but nothing calms more han the voice of reason.

(4) Pay your Congressman compliment:
Give him a chance to tell you what he thinks; give him a chance to hear what you think.
But think. Let us not take any action—from which there is no retreat—without thought by each of us.

The Central Club of the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, will present, "January Thaw" a 3 act comedy by William Roos, at Woodward Hall at the Church on Friday and Saturday evening, April 18 and 19 at p.m. The play, based on a novel by The play, based on a novel by Bellamy Partridge, is a story of a couple who have "done over" an old house in Connecticut. All is seemingly well with the family, even to having a maid who "shares" her work with Mrs. Gage, but Mrs. Gage has neglected to tell her husband that there were complications that there were complications that went with the deed. These com-plications, in the form of the Rockwood family, original own-ers of the house, arise in the first scene, and follow through-out the remainder of the play. Memo to Business

We need foreign markets for our manufactured goods; other countries need our products. To pay for our products they must provide us with goods and services. Reciprocity is the keynote to future prosperity. As businessmen know we are now having rising inventories and a slump in purchasing power. So businessmen particularly are keeping an eye on the exploratory hearings of the Senate Finance Committee with Millikin (R. hearings of the Senate Finance Committee with Millikin (R. Colo.) as chairman and the House Ways and Means Committee with Harold Knutson (R. Minni) as chairman. The hearings are being held now and State Department officials are testifying. For the past few weeks the State Department has been holding hearings all through the United States in which it tried to evaluate facts and figures provided by manufacturers and other business men. Their findings are being brought forth at the Senate and House hearings although as yet there is no specific legislation under discussion. Whatever is disclosed at the hearings will probably determine the action taken by America at the Geneva Conference now getting under way.

It is hoped the exploratory hearings will give a picture of

It is hoped the exploratory hearings will give a picture of the past operation of the trade agreements and bring comments on the proposed charter of the International Trade Organization. There is no clear indication as to what will come out but it is possible that a measure requiring Congressional approval of the trade agreements might develop. This could lead to log rolling of the worst sort. Another possibility would be that the agreements might become treaties, requiring a two-thirds vote of Congress. Other United Nations operations—the Food and of Congress. Other United Nations operations—the Food and Agricultural Organization, for instance, have required only a simple majority of both Houses. Business men are being urged to give their support to the principles of the present trade agreements, their flexibility, their practicality and, specifically, the long range benefits to our economy. The businessmen of Newton are being urged to write Senators Lodge and Saltonstall and support the principles under Senators Lodge and Sationstall and support the principles under which we have been operating for more than the past decade. Why don't you send a message to one or both of the Senators and your Representative at the Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C., or House Office Building. Washington, D. C.?

April 2 and your columnist was fortunate to have a chapter to speak for the Newton Graphic. Several of the paper's have given a running account of the important news of the week in their locality. Your columnist chose to try to give a thumbnail sketch of Newton in order. that those who do not know much about us might hear some of the nice things which are so familiar to those of us who so familiar to those of us win have had the privilege of living in Newton for many years. Mention was made of our excellent health, safety and educational record, our attempts to help solve the local housing problem, our coming city election and the growing interest in Plan E hereabouts. A few historical facts were cited and mention was made of our complicated village set-up. Then, because the broadcast was limited to four minutes these was to be completed. utes, there was just a sentence or two about mosquito control, the Dutch Elm disease, the imminent abolition of gas-lighting and the continued attempts to secure a concrete stand at Dickinson Stadium.

I am glad to report that this series of broadcasts has attracted so much interest that second series is already un-er way and Newton will again heard from early in May. Presidential Term

Matthew begins his account of equal zeal? Why not celebrate the Transfiguration? The answer will depend on what Easter means; and not only means as an historical fact to the world in general, but as a living force to you and to me in particular, for the living of your life and mine. In the first place, Easter means a new joy has come into the world to bless us. The Day should be warm and sunny . . . for reasons deeper than to provide a fit setting for the Easter parade! Good to the sunset, Saturday, not substitute that the substant was Saturday.

And then, again, Easter means a new hope has come into the world to bless us. And how the world needs new hope like that ... even more than it needs a new joy! For the joy rests on the hope. That is fundamental to the Christian religion, your religion and mine. The joy of the people's Hosannas, on Palm Sunday, carried over into the disciples' joy that the Lord had risen indeed. It was a fact they found hard to comprehend, their amazement, their incredulity, their joy, was so great. And yet it was what He had promised, that "... I will see you again, and your heart shall rejoice, and your joy no man taketh from you." His joy, that He would have in them, and have them make full! That is why Easter brings joy ... because it brings hope. The joy rests on the hope, hope in a future life: bebrings hope. The joy rests on the the present hope, hope in a future life; because Easter means that hope, too. Easter means the joy that is latent, and latent only, in that hope in immortality.

To say that, is to sa

To say that, is to say one other thing that Easter means. Easter means a new life has come into the world to bless us. The joy, the hope, that Easter means, them selves bring new life! new life here, and more abundant: new toward . . . the first day of the week. And I suspect the began and the toward are not least important to any soul that would strike after what is spiritual life in what, otherwise, is merely natural existence. They are important to any soul that would strike after what is spiritual life. here, and more abundant; new life beyond, and eternal. And they bring new life here and beyond, because He Himself brings one has arrived. The beginning, yond, because He Himself brings new life here from the beyond. The presence of the Risen Lord with us and with mankind, a Presence otherwise impossible, altogether absent, puts the real meaning into Easter because it puts His new life in mankind. The event that Easter celebrates is the central fact in the Christian religion. The reality go. He has more joy to know and

And that drive derives its punch from the fact that the Lord rose. That is what I have been saying You rise in life as joy comes to move life to a higher level. You rise in character, in spiritual character, as hope swayed by joy draws you on and up with the Risen Lord. For you rise, then, with the Lord, out of daily death in sin, to life here, and to life

How Shell serves consumer, community, employee, shareholder

A long way from great-granddad:

Petroleum-in 1859-was a baby industry, turning out lamp oil and lubricants. Look at it now. Shell, for example, has increased its output from 7 products

Housewife or stevedore:

Everybody needs petroleum. It is heating oil, cooking gas, or plastics in the home. It lubricates the stevedore's cranes and machines. For the doctor it is antiseptics or anesthetics. It is greases for industry . . . or pest killers for the farmer. Oil helps make everything a consumer uses . . .

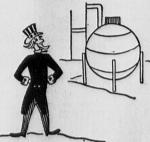

A lot more for a lot less:

Since 1920, regular gasoline has climbed from 50 octane to 78...but the price has almost halved. Other petroleum products-through intense competition and improved production methodsfollow the same trend. Mr. and Mrs. Consumer, naturally, benefit.

Something for Uncle Sam:

Serving our biggest "community"-the nation itself-Shell Research develops needed products. Examples: 100-octane aviation gasoline in quantity at reasonable cost . . . oil to stop "black rust" in Navy turbines . . . jet fuels . . . explosives. Conservation of oil is achieved through greater, and more efficient, utilization of petroleum molecules.

For the nation, cities, towns:

Nationally and locally, Shell's taxes help support government, hospitals, schools-help build your state and county roads. Shell is a "citizen" of your home town . . . employs your neighbors . . . supports community welfare and activities.

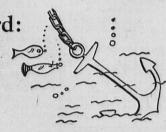

More jobs-and better jobs:

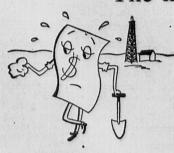

Shell's varied services to consumers mean brighter futures for all of its employees. Work suited to each individual's abilities is more readily available, which means a better and faster chance to get ahead. Promotions average 21 every single day at Shell.

Anchor to windward:

Beyond secure jobs, Shell employees-by a pension plan-are guaranteed a retirement income without cost to them. In addition, there is a savings plan in which an employee's dollar is matched with an equal amount by the Company. Group life insurance and sickness benefits at low cost are also a part of the plan for security.

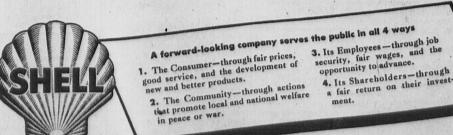

The hard-working dollar:

Thousands of people-mostly small shareholders-invest savings in the petroleum industry. This helps provide "tools"oil field equipment, refineries, pipelines, trucks, service stations-that make the operation of the oil business possible. Their hard-working dollar deserves a fair return.

Today, virtually everyone shares in the petroleum industry-benefits by its products or services . . . every hour of his life-and every single day.

Cancer the Killer

The American Cancer Society and its local chapters conduct their annual campaign for funds, this month, to carry on the work of seeking a cure for the scourge that last year took the lives of 181,000 persons in the United States. April is Cancer Control Month by act of Congress and proclamation of the President.

The Society avers that the populace must become cancer-conscious because early detection of the disease in most cases means a life, or lives, saved. At least one-third of the 17,000,000 Ameria life, or lives, saved. At least one-third of the 17,000,000 Americans now living who are doomed to die of cancer, could be saved if the disease were detected in time and proper treatment given. So cancer-conscousness is mandatory, and should go hand-in-hand with frequent medical examinations.

When we consider the facts with sober reflefiction-that 184,-000 Americans will die this year, an increase over last year; that the death toll has been climbing steadily since cancer statistics were first compiled-when we consider the facts, it seems ironic to boast of the advantages of our economic life. All the wealth in the world cannot save us from death, but there is one way that our money might help to keep the grim spectre from us—by put-ting it to work in research projects where scientists are trying to learn the cause of cancer and perfect a cure for it.

The 184,000 Americans expected to die of the cancer scourge this year will include approximately 95,000 women, 88,000 men about 1300 children under the age of 15.

Because cancer is not a reportable disease in many states it is impossible to determine the number of people who are suffering from cancer at this time. However, national health authorities are agreed on a method of estimating the number of cancer cases. Roughly, the figure is four times the number of deaths. This would mean that in the United States today, there are about 656,000 cases of cancer. This means that one in every two families in any will feel the heavy and lethal hand of cancer; and that cancer will kill one in eight of the persons in any city

The American Cancer Society points out that there are three acceptable methods of treating cancer—with surgery, radium and X-ray. To recognize this fact, coupled with the knowledge that in many cases early cancer can be cured, we can face the threat of this scourge with courage and realism.

Actual figures mean little until translated into action. Sixty per cent of the funds contributed by Massachusetts remain in the state for local application. For example, last year, the Massachusetts Division of the American Cancer Society reported that $232,-000 was raised in this state; and of that amount, more than $123,-000 has already been granted to local service, educational and research institutions and individuals. On top of this, the national headquarters of the Society last month announced the allocation of an additional $132,322 for the expansion of cancer research in

Thus, both the national and state divisions of the Society have granted over a quarter million dollars to aid Massachusetts in its fight to conquer cancer—more money than the state as a whole contributed last year. This year, this month, the American Cancer Society is asking Massachusetts for $500,000—4 per cent of the national goal of $12,000,000.

There are the figures-translating them into fact and beneficial action in April depends upon the reasoned generosity of the citizens of Massachusetts.

Cancer is an offspring of ignorance and indifference. To give to the Society is to conquer through education, service and re-

A very interesting situation has arisen this year on Beacon Hill. The four Newton Representatives, who frequently vote in unison on many important measures, were split wide open on the Plan E proposition. Furthermore, it was not a split as between the two sides of the city, north and south. Rep. Geo. E. Rawson of the north side and Rep. Margaret Spear of the south side voted in favor of continuing Plan E in operation. Rep. John S. Whittemore of the north side and Rep. Howard Whitmore of the south side voted against a continuation of the much-discussed Plan E. Rep. Rawson was reported in the papers as being opposed to the setting up of Plan E in Newton. Dr. Levine stated that sinc 1879 the life expectancy has increased from 34 to 65 years. Therefore, a large proportion of those who die of heart disease today formerly died at much earlier ages of other diseases such as tuberculosis, pneumonia, scarlet fever, cancer and many other ills now under control by the medical profession. "The heart," he said, "has become the great killer, because people tend to outlive all other diseases.

There are, according to Dr. Levine, two serious types of heart ailments which cause the vast majority of deaths. These are rheumatic fever cases which constitute from 20 to 40% of all constitute from 20 to 40% of all heart diseases, and coronary and high blood pressure cases, which make up 40 to 60%. Rheumatic fever is the grim reaper of children from 10 to 15 years of age, causing 90% of deaths in this age group from disease. This ailment causes five times as many fatalities as all other diseases of children and control of the coronary and the causes of children and coronary and control of the coronary and cor ities as all other diseases of chil dren combined.

It is the second group that has been affected by the lengthened duration of life. Coronary disea-ses and high blood pressure afflict today nearly 7,500,000 adults in the older groups. Railroad Fan Club Holds Family Night

"Family Night" was observed by the Mystic Knights of the Shin-ing Rail, Waltham-Newton railroad fan club, at its meeting recently at the home of Lawrence N. Clark, 29 Richardson street, Newton. About 30 members and friends were present viewing approximatey 25 models set up in different rooms.

Railroad items on display ran from little H-O locomotives about three inches long, to a front section of an open end trolley car, measuring about six feet by four feet, it is revealed.

Several English models were displayed by Ray Hamilton, and Norton Clark showed several German models, and had his H-O model railroad in operation. One of the guests, Homer Hepler of Waltham, brought his H-O locomotive along to the meeting.

Newton High School Notes

The Newton Junior College has announced that it will soon publish a newspaper. The college has long left the need for such a journal in order to advertise coming events and opportunities for student participation in its activities. The Lanternlighter which in all probability is to be the pap-er's name, will have its first er's name, will have its first issue on Thursday, April 17th, and will include a regular news and sports coverage as well as feature a woman's page. Mr. Harry L. Walen, a member of the faculty at Newton High School and Instructor of the Class in Journalism, which publishes the Newtonite, will act as advisor for the paper. Heading the editorial staff in the position of Editorin-Chief for the opening issue will be Alan Stoney.

The Art of Winning Men

By the Rev. Vincent R. Booth

of Galilee Jesus dwelt on some characteristic in each one of them characteristic in each one of them which he could praise. When Nathaniel drew near Jesus exclaimed, "behold an Israelite indeed in whom there is no guile." Was Nathaniel a paragon of virtue? Hardly! Yet Jesus said something which quickered Nathaniel's step on the path of virtue.

The passion, which means suffered with them is it any two wonder that they fell in love wonder that they fell in love of the who could stop in the midst of his divine labors to go fishing with them?

Our meditation should raise in our minds some searching questions. Is our church a branch of virtue.

something else which is suggestive, —he became interested in lishing. I doubt whether Jesus these, —follow me? was an ardent fisherman. Only once, and then in a general way did He refer to fishing in His preaching. But the men he was tired preaching. But the men he was after were fishermen, so Jesus living in his own house in Newment fishing with them. Their problem the morning that Jesus used their boat as a pulpit was that they had fished all night and caught nothing. To catch nothing was a serious matter for these people. Their families might go hungry. It is impossible for us living in this land of plenty night of the served.

"And when they had brought their boats to land they left all and followed him."—Luke 5:11.

Every minister sooner or later calls the attention of his people to the bast. Vast numbers of the humble character of the of human beings do not know the humble character of the twelve men Jesus chose to be his apostles. For the most part they were fishermen. In and around the Mediterranean a fisherman stands just about at the bottom of the social ladder.

Of course Jesus was award of option of the social ladder.

Of course Jesus was aware of the limitations of these fishermen, But, fortunately for us, he looked beyond their limitations to their soever throws aware of the limitations to their limitations to the limitations of the limitations of the limitations of the limitations to t

Notice that in seeking to win these humble fishermen as disciples Jesus placed himself under obligation by borrowing Peter's boat. By this request he made Peter the fisherman a partner in his enterprise, sharing with him the importance of the occaming the part of the occaming the part of the occaming the part of the part of the occaming the part of the part of the occaming the part of the occaming the part of the occaming the part of the part of the occaming the part of in his enterprise, snaring with him the importance of the occasion. That boat became a broadcasting station from which words of life have gone to the ends of the world.

Is there anything of ours that the Master would like to borrow? We must not say that we have nothing to offer. Have we less than Peter? That illsmelling boat was all he could place at the Master's disposal. You who read these words have a talent, a prized possession, a distinct capacity, a unique opportunity which, once consecrated to the highest, will help the Prophet of Nazareth to extend his influence.

In his efforts to win the humble fishermen of Galilee Jesus did something else which is suggests.

Wednesday, April 23, 12:30 Bible (King James Version) in-"Behold, the Lord's hand is not

"Behold, the Lord's hand is not shortened, that it cannot save; neither his ear heavy, that it cannot hear: but your iniquities have separated between you and your God, and your sins have your God, and your sins have hid his face from you, that he will not hear." (Isaiah 59:1,2.) Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include:

"Let us rid ourselves of the belief that man is separated from God, and obey only the divine Principle, Life and Love. Here is the great point of departure for all true spiritual growth."

interesting ones.
At 8 a.m. Miss "A" arrives a At 8 a.m. Miss "A" arrives at the office of the Newton District Nursing Association and spends about an hour writing reports, contacting doctors and outside agencies about her patients as well as planning her day's work. In one of the association's owned cars she goes to her district (one of six in Newton). Her first call is to Mrs. Jones who needs help with a new baby and was reported by the hospital. This is the very first baby in the family and exceedingly precious, so and exceedingly precious, so much so that the little mother feels very insecure and hesitant about caring for her offspring. With a skilled hand the district nurse skined hand the district supplies and give the bath and other care all the while encourag-ing the mother and giving forth information.

Board of Aldermen
One of the things I am planning to do during the next few months is to give brief thumb-nail sketches of our Board of Al-

Rotary Club

There were two especially interesting features of the special address to Congress earlier this week. One was the President's far left of centre as the former. plea to both labor and management, as well as the press and the government itself, to do ev-erything possible to reduce prices and hold our economic system in proper balance. The other was the broad implication that he would veto any substantial cut in income taxes.

Now, let me quote just one sen-ence from David Lawrence's daily column in the Boston Tra-veler of April 21: "But the Presi-dent's revelation over the weekend that the administration has made a 'mistake' of $3,500,000, 000—within three and a half months presents either a blunder of the first magnitude or a piece political manipulation deserves nation-wide condemna

Let us bear that in mind when Congress has passed the current tax-reduction bill and the President gives definite indication that he will veto it.

Rep. Whitmore Our newest Representative on Beacon Hill, Rep. Howard Whit-more of Newton Highlands wast-ed no time in responding to my column of last week. The lead paragraph was "Newton's Legis-lators", and called attention to lators" and called attention to the divergence of opinion among our four Representatives in connection with the bill providing for the repeal of proportional representation as a method of voting. This was Senate Bill 124, which was passed and engrossed by the Senate, but defeated in by the Senate, but dereated in the House.—(Ed. Note: Rep. Whitmore's letter appears in another column on this page.)

Now, Rep. Whitmore makes the point that the repeal of proportional voting was the ONLY issue in the bill and that it is NOT sue in the bill and that it is NOT. sue in the bill and that it is NOT necessary true that a man who is against PR is therefore also against Plan E., despite the fact that Plan E specifically provides for the PR method of voting. for the PR method of voting. Complicated, is it not? Also, according to Rep. Whitmore, "many more cities have adopted the 'council-manager' form of government and use the majority system of voting than have adopted the 'council-manager' form with PR."

We will continue this discussion later on, after we have heard from our other Representatives. Personally, it seems to me that the important thing is for all of us to read up on this entire matter and figure out what stand we should take.

"Fortune"

One of the most informative articles on political affairs which your columnist has read in many years appeared in the April issue of Fortune, the very classy $1.00 magazine put out by Henry Luce, publisher of Time and Life and one or two more. This article is staff-written and takes almost an hour to read and digest thoroughly. It deals with the G.O.P. outlook for 1948 and gives long sketches of the three leading sterili the properties of the control of the many course.

Taft, Dewey and Vandenberg are the big three, altho' Stassen gets a good play immediately afterwards. It is suggested that Taft will come to the national convention with more pledged delegates than any other aspirant, but that he and Dewey will quite possibly become deadlocked. That is where Senator Vandenberg of Michigan comes in. He would be an excellent compromise candidate, even tho' his age is against him and his health is none too good. Stassen does not rate too

In other words. it will take a man of real sub-stance and a real record to de-feat our President, provided, of it will take a man of real substance and a real record to defeat our President, provided, of course, that the general state of the union is sound and that our foreign policies have not gotten us into too much hot water.

In your column "Politics with Color" published last week, you discussed the attitude of the Newton Representatives in regard to Plan E. Apparently this discussion was based upon the Representatives votes on Senate Bill 124, which was passed and regrossed by the Senate, but defeated in the House. This bill provided for the repeal of proportional representation as a method of voting. That was the only issue in the bill. Inasmuch as Plan E provides for the PR method of voting. That was the only issue in the bill. Inasmuch as therefore oppose Plan E. But this is not necessarily so, since many more cities have adopted the "council-manager" form of government and use the majority system of voting than have adopted the "council-manager" form with PR.

I have always enjoyed your column and found it to be both for the repeal of proportion of the New Yoth Column and found it to be both for many more cities have adopted the "council-manager" form with PR.

You Don't Have To Guess!

As far as the adoption of Plan E in Newton is concerned, if the voters of the city so desire, they should have an opportunity to vote on it. "We must study and improve technical methods; establish sound general principles; develop the relation of the Accounting Department to the other Departments of Industry and Business and of Industry and Business, and develop the most effective means of supplying usable information to these departments," the Dean stated.

The Dean further observed:—
"The introduction of scientific methods of cost accounting also meant bringing into thousands of industrial units a more ef-ficient organization, better pur-chasing and production methods, improved controls, and a steppedup tempo generally within in-dividual businesses and all industry. In my opinion, these ac-complishments would have been deferred by several decades without the coming of modern, scientific cost-finding methods, developed through these uniform systems in thousands of business units. It is a movement for which industry itself must largely have the credit, and which has to provide management with up to the minute costs to assist in determining selling prices for items manufactured, and in our present economic situation with the persistent demands of labor for increases, it is imperative that the true facts be known. "Ground-breaking ceremonies planned for this fall," Mr. Leonard's report continued, "will coincide with the resumption in September of an intensive campaign to complete the fund." Stewart Hamilton in his first report since becoming director of Newton - Wellesley Hospital last June.

"This money," Dr. Hamilton asserted, "must come from the citizens who can afford to pay and it is going to come from them either by their voluntary contributions to help support the hospital or by their paying increased taxes."

Acknowledging that hospital costs have risen so markedly and so rapidly that they are in danger of going beyond the reach of the average citizen, Dr. Hamilton attributed this condition to the increased cost of everything a hospital buy sand to rising personnel expense. In endeavoring to meet the competition of industry during recent years, he explained, personnel costs have advanced to the point where payrolls now exceed total operating costs of 10 years ago. Voluntary contributions through the Community Fund and other methods are the logical answers, he maintained. Indicative of the steadily increasing demand for the hospital's services, its director reported that during 1946, 7247 patients, including newborn, were admitted—an increase of 14 per cent over the number admitted in 1945. Visits to the out - patient department increased by 400 to a total of 7238.

All departments of the hospital experienced their share of the greater activity. As examples, Dr. Hamilton cited the anesthesia department, under Dr. Reginald S. Hunt, which completed "the busiest year in its history," giving 510 more anesthesias than in 1945. Output in the X-Ray department jumped 15 per cent and the NELICIBLADULACE (O.)

Take It Easy A Sermon by Rev. Richard P. McClintock

"Wherefore my beloved brethren, let every man be swift

"Wherefore my beloved brethren, let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath: for the wrath of man worketh not the righteousness of God."—James 1:19,20.

I suppose I should begin by saying that any resemblance between the title of this sermon and any popular song of 'he same title is purely a coincidence. I have no intention of doing a rhumba this morning. "Wherefore my beloved brethen, let every man be swift to mankind;" "Wherefore my beloved brethren, let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath: for the wrath of man worketh not the righteousness of

And if to reach your lips at last It passes through these gatespeak. Behind this warning sign is our old enemy, gossip. We may think it is those who are our enemies, those who denitely are not on our side who do us the most harm in life. but it is not so It is our friends who can not refrain from gossip as news, others call it dirt. It is very often 9-10ths half-truth and the rest a downright lie.

Truth can so easily be distorted. I remember one time long ago a friend of mine was in an automobile accident. He had taken a curve too fast as I had often seen him do from the back seat. This time I was fortunate to be absent while my dire predictions came true. The car turned over. I had been out of town and another have been a little more on guard, it is the been a little more on guard, it is the beautiful to the state of the search o the hospital in a desperate condition. So I set out for the hospital. I dropped in at the paper store on my way to see if there were any details in print. Some folks were talking. They said it was too bad that Biff had died, just because of recklessness too. This was more than upsetting. I determined to go to Biff's home to see what I could do for his family, when Biff himself walked into the paper store hale and hearty with no more than one teeny little bandage on his chin! The rumor of his dath was the paper store than one teeny little bandage on his chin! death was greatly exaggerated What happened is that some-one had heard about the accident and passed ing "he ought ssed judgment, ght to have i

What the result of speech may be." Wherefore—let every man be swift to hear, slow to speck, slow

"Johnny", scolded his mother,
"Johnny, didn't I tell you to count ten always!" "Yes, mother, friend met me at the station with the news that Biff was in the hospital in a desperate con-just and controlled indignation ciple. Anger, as contrasted with just and controlled indignation which keeps itself in hand, never does any good. It is never true to say, "That time I was right in losing my temper" and to take pride as many do in having a quick and uncontrollable temper. That is simple childishness. There is a higher law which disregards anger as a weapon. That is mutual love which casts out anger as well as fear. Jesus speaking in as well as fear. Jesus speaking in the sermon on the mount and putting new life into the old commandments said; "Ye have heard thou shalt not kill; but I say that whoever is angry with his brother shall be judged . . . ye have heard it said thou shalt love thy neighbor and hate thine. love thy neighbor and hate thine ing "he ought to have been killed," or "it's a wonder he wasn't dead by now," and the next one to tell the story left that detail out of it.

This is just how news can be garbled and exaggerated. In this case I don't suppose it caused any great harm. But when news plus editorial comments and the state of the state o

"Probation After Death" is ne lesson-sermon subject for unday, April 27. Golden text: "If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men most miserable. But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept." (I Corinthians 15:19, 20.)

Sermon: Passages from the ible (King James version) in-Bible

"Know ye not that they which run in a race run all, but one re-ceiveth the prize? So run, that ye may obtain. And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things. Nov they do it to obtain a corruptible crown; but we an incorruptible."
(I Corinthians 9:24, 25.) Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scrip tures" by Mary Baker Eddy, in

"We can, and ultimately shall, so rise as to avail ourselves in every direction of the supremacy of Truth over error, Life death, and good over evil, and this growth will go on until we arrive at the fulness of God's idea, and no more fear that shall be sick and die." (p. 406).

Newton and Quincy Students Believed Drowning Victims

Robert L. Monroe, 20, son of and Mrs. Robert L. Monroe of 42 Eliot avenue, West Newton, and Robert A. Newell, 23, of Quincy, fellow students at the University of New Hampshire are believed to have been victims of drowning on Saturday when the canoe in which they were at-tempting to paddle to an island some 400 yards off shore on Mendum's Pond, Great Barrington, N. H., overturned.

The two young men, both veterans of the Army Air Forces and fraternity brothers at the university where they were members of the junior class, had gone to the campus outing club cottage with a party of 12 members of Theta Chi fraternity for a canoeing expedition.

A search for the bodies of the two young men has been con-ducted by New Hampshire State police and fraternity brothers but as yet they have not been

Get B. F. Goodrich Silvertowns that

The new B. F. Goodrich tire has a wider. flatter tread that puts more rubber where it counts . . . on the road. More rubber there means more to share the wear . . . less wear at any one point . . . better mileage . . . greater safety all the way.

More rubber also means more grip . . . more safety from skidding . . . better stopping. This huskier tread is held by a sturdier cord body made with stronger cords and more of them to give more protection against blowouts and greater resistance to road shock.

It all adds up to better service longer. That's why the new Silvertown is best in the long run. You pay only regular prices for the extra value features of the new B.F. Goodrich Silvertown that actually costs you less per mile.
